Dear Dr. Stathopoulos,

The University of Southern California is committed to providing exceptional educational opportunities, fostering innovation, and advancing research initiatives that have a real impact on society. Thank you for your pledge, made through your company, to establish and support The Neuroimmunotherapy Program Fund. This is a wonderful naming gift to the Keck School of Medicine of USC.

Your trust in the Keck School of Medicine to see this project forward is invaluable. The advances that we'll be able to make together in the treatment of brain tumors will be groundbreaking. I look forward to seeing the continued success of this project, and others that will develop from our partnership with you and ERC.

Thank you for helping make USC the great university it is.

Fight On!
